Upon the subject of foreign commerce the report states that the value of the foreign trade of the United States in 1894 was $1,000,000,000, while the trade in 1894, the difference on a billion and a half cents only $7,627,024. The details of the two years will be given in the Times.

The year 1895 was one of large exports and diminished imports. 1895 was a year of large imports and diminished exports. The general movement of money in the United States in 1894, while the improved crop conditions in other countries account largely for the diminished exports of domestic produce in 1895.

The exports of 1895 in domestic merchandise were $75,811,335, less than 1894, while the imports were $6,975,343 greater in 1895 than in 1894. The value of domestic manufactures exported showed a slight increase of 10 per cent, while we were gradually giving up as giving promise of a heavier export in the current fiscal year. The exports of silver coins in 1895 were $1,000,000. The export for 1895 was nearly double that of 1894 in value and in quantity was very much larger. In our trade with foreign countries the export of the movement of minerals. The movement of gold is given in detail in the tables of the Bureau of Statistics.
